Zammis Schein : Contractor Gear: A Collectors' Guide to Weapons, Private-Purchase and Service-Issue Clothing and Equipment as used by Civilian Contractors in Iraq and Afghanistan before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Contractor Gear: A Collectors' Guide to Weapons, Private-Purchase and Service-Issue Clothing and Equipment as used by Civilian Contractors in Iraq and Afghanistan:

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. FairBy James E. HopkinsReally kind of a disappointment. All of the information is available on line or at a surplus store. Contractors covered are low level truck drivers dock workers and the occasion interpreterNo high level assets and very little security assets.Ok but there are better books

This book is a comprehensive collectors guide to Operation Enduring Freedom (OEF), and Operation Iraqi Freedom (OIF) civilian contractors private-purchase and service-issue clothing, equipment, and weapons as they were worn and used in the field between 2002 and 2014. A host of detailed photographs show what civilian contractors both in combat and in non-combat roles looked like in Afghanistan and Iraq. This is the first militaria book that presents actual configurations of clothing, equipment, as well as weapons of civilian contractors in as near to realistic configurations as is practically possible. The majority of items presented in this book are bringbacks from Iraq and Afghanistan, where the author worked in different capacities as a civilian contractor. Items shown in the book used to be the authors own work clothes, equipment and tools, or they belonged to fellow contractors who worked with him in different places at different times.

About the AuthorZammis Schein worked in Afghanistan as an escort interpreter, an English teacher and a field interpreter trainer on several assignments. He fell in love with the country. He was enchanted by the people, the languages, the rich culture, and the colorful history of Afghanistan. He started his collection of contractor clothing and equipment while he was working in Afghanistan.
