

(Free read ebook) My resume is great (I think)...so why didn't I get an interview?: Fast and easy guide for people with 5+ years of professional work experience to ... that gets interviews! (I Think Career Skills)

My resume is great (I think)...so why didn't I get an interview?: Fast and easy guide for people with 5+ years of professional work experience to ... that gets interviews! (I Think Career Skills)

Stacie Garlieb

Download PDF | ePub | DOC | audiobook | ebooks*

Download

Read Online

#8631811 in Books CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform 2010-02-19Original
language:EnglishPDF # 1 9.00 x .16 x 6.00l, .23 #File Name: 145051017568 pages | File size: 24.Mb

Stacie Garlieb : My resume is great (I think)...so why didn't I get an interview?: Fast and easy guide for people with 5+ years of professional work experience to ... that gets interviews! (I Think Career Skills) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised My resume is great (I think)...so why didn't I get an interview?: Fast and easy guide for people with 5+ years of professional work experience to ... that gets interviews! (I Think Career Skills):

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. excellent self-help guidanceBy Chet CThis book and the author, S Garlieb, are fabulous. The book is actually part of a succinct, practical step-by-step process from resume building, to interview preparation, to final negotiations - - most authors focus on one of these areas but Ms Garlieb has developed a total process which can be used separately or as a whole. The guides can be tools for improving position within an organization and/or greatly assist with new opportunities. Their user friendly and extremely helpful!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Offering solutions for career growthBy NancyEven though I spent extensive time creating my initial resume, it only got my foot in the door of my first employer. This book is for people looking to take their careers to the next level by defining their skills and experience in a meaningful way that leads to career advancement. Stacie Garlieb keeps it real, succinct and easy-to-follow.

You had a friend review your resume, you compared it to a colleague's, you used it to interview for your last job and got hired, so why isn't your resume getting the attention of recruiters and hiring managers for interviews now? There could be one or more reasons, so this book is intended to help you find ways to make your resume more impactful and user-friendly to a recruiter and hiring manager. Resume review is either the best or worst part of the day for managers, so this book is written to make reading your resume a positive experience and help you stand out from the other candidates! February 2011 updated version

About the AuthorStacie Garlieb is the President of Successful Impressions, LLC. which assists working professionals with career search processes and skills. She has been featured several times on NBC television and KFYI radio during morning and evening news with interview tips. In partnership with University of Phoenix, Stacie is the creator and presenter for the 'Career Workshop Series' on resume building, interview preparation, interview skills, social media networking, and 're-careering' and transition in the workforce. Stacie is a well-known national speaker who has presented on various career skills topics at events such as Build Your Career Event (Career Builder/University of Phoenix), Arizona Womens Expo, American Marketing Association International Conference (2010, 2011), Jobs for AZ Graduates Career Development Conference (2010, 2011), Reinvent Your Future 2010, Devlink Technical Conference, and multiple corporate team development sessions. Her career search tips and interview skills advice have been published in collegiate, national sorority, and alumni publications, and she is currently also featured as an expert as the Phoenix Career Transition Examiner at examiner.com and as the Career Planning Expert for College Expert Panel. As the author of the Career Search Skills Series books available on and in college bookstores, she collaborated with other hiring managers to create generation specific guides to help people navigate the job search process. Through group presentations and one-on-one coaching on all career search related topics, she has worked with public and private college students nationally since 1991. Stacie was invited by California State Sacramento and University of the Pacific to act as a Career Consultant to the career services departments. She developed the Career Fair Training Program for University of the Pacific, and assisted in writing the "Career Services Interview Skills" guide. Over more than twenty years, she has worked for Fortune 500 organizations in sales, marketing, and management positions with recruiting responsibility after earning her Bachelor of Science from Arizona State University.